CATALOGUE BY WILLIAM H. STROBRIDGE.

PREFACE.

A FEW words of explanation and apology are needed here.

A due regard to order in a work like this, would require such an arrangement of its materials as would enable the reader to survey at one view, and under a single head, every article of each particular class described therein.

But the exigencies of the professional compiler of coin catalogues often forbid such a classification; the different properties placed in his hands requiring to be kept apart, regardless of congruity.

To prevent greater confusion, a division of the catalogue into PARTS—as in the present instance—is sometimes resorted to; by which arrangement, the principal collections can be separately referred to, while in the addendas small parcels following each other, with their inevitable repetitions, will be more readily excused.

Part I. is devoted to a classification and brief description of a cabinet of Ancient and Modern Coins, already known here as the "HAVANA COLLECTION."

The strength of this collection lies in its stores of the Coins of Spain, and the colonies of that country in the new world.

Spain, or Iberia—as the Spanish Peninsula was once called—was early colonized by nations from the East, and later by the Carthaginians and Romans. Innumerable coins exist with Phœnician, Greek, and Punic inscriptions, as well as with Celtiberian and Roman legends. The Celtiberian Alphabet is a mixture of the older writing of the Phœnicians and Greeks with native and Carthaginian letters.

Numismatists do not allow that the great bulk of these coins are older than the second century before Christ, but those with Greek and Phœnician inscriptions may have a much higher antiquity. After the conquest of the country by the Romans, the date of the coins may be easily fixed, the head of the Emperor being always found on them; and even before the Roman power became settled, Latin legends betray an increasing Roman influence dating from the time of the Carthaginian war.

There has been no considerable number of these coins within easy reach of American collectors until now.

This division of the collection was sufficiently full to allow of its being catalogued in lots of six, and frequently more, pieces. This has been done with a view to avoid tediousness at the sale; it will also prove advantageous to the collector, as there are but few duplicates, and care has been taken to secure variety in each lot.

The collection was made by a SPANIARD, and his amor patriæ has evidently guided his selection. Equally with the Ancient, the coins of Modern Spain, in gold and silver of large size, deserve especial mention and praise. There are nearly half a hundred of Isabella and Ferdinand, and the number and quality of the "Proclamation" pieces are quite unprecedented.

There are also many unusually fine and rare pieces to be found among the Coins and Medals of England, examples of which are: No. 457, Penny of Edgar; No. 472, Crown of Edward VI.; No. 482, Medal of Cromwell; No. 483, Medal by Simon; Nos. 488, 490, and 492, uncirculated Half Crowns of James II., William and Mary, and William III.; No. 538, Farthing of Anna; etc., etc.

Part II. is the property of a gentleman still in the field as a collector. The purchase of a cabinet with a large number of duplicates, caused the amalgamated stock of new and old Coins to require this extensive depletion to bring it into reasonable proportions. There are fine Silver Medals in this division, and a large number of moderately fine U. S. and foreign Silver Coins.

In the addenda to Part I. there are a number of uncirculated and extremely fine Dollars and Half Dollars; and in the second addenda, some of the best Coins in the catalogue. In this division will be found a line of Proof Sets and other pieces left by the late Colin Lightbody, among them an uncirculated 1797 half-dime; a cent of 1809, uncommonly fine; and a rare Canadian token of Louis XV. Following Mr. Lightbody's coins are a number of uncirculated Polish and Russian Silver coins from the Stenz Collection.

The large number of Ancient Coins in this catalogue, massed in lots of twenty and more pieces, may reasonably be expected to give a new impulse to their acquisition and study—a study which the celebrated Mionnet has called, "une magnifique branche d'archéologie."
